1. B. Reconfirm whether or not the district is offering higher levels of in-person instruction for English language learners, special education students, or other special populations

Response:

Yes, we offer students in our specialized programs to attend more in-person days if the current instructional plan is limited.

2. Document Public Comments:

Many parents spoke about masking and testing for athletes. They would like to see these restrictions lifted especially for next school year.

An attorney spoke for a parent group about parents rights to make decisions about their children and parents should be in any conversations about masking and testing. If students don't wear masks, they should not be treated differently than the students who do wear masks.

Three current students spoke about their experience this school year wearing masks during athletics and choir and how challenging it was to run or sing.
